

Short tour description/route characteristics: The Tour Allgäu-Oberschwaben runs mainly on small narrow connecting roads, some of which are only single-lane. On these roads, there is not much traffic to be expected, but you should always be careful, as there is not always enough space to pass by. From Sonthofen the tour first leads via Burgberg and Rottach to the turn-off to Martinszell. Via Häusern and Martinszell the tour continues to Oberdorf and further to Niedersonthofen. There the tour turns first left and then right again shortly afterwards on narrow farm tracks via Ettensberg to Hellengerst. Here again briefly left and immediately right again, the route continues to Buchenberg. From here - turn left - to Eschach and then - turn right - to Wegscheidel. There turn left to Winterstetten. Turn right towards Muthmannshofen and then - again right - to Gschnaidt. Shortly after the village - at Lendraß - turn left and continue to Hettisried. There turn left until shortly before Wuchzenhofen and then right to Hofs and further to Aichstetten. From there the tour continues to Schloss Zeil. After visiting this beautiful complex, the tour continues towards Seibranz and then - turning left - to Starkenhofen and Bauhofen. Via Diepoldshofen you will then reach Kißlegg. From here - continuing mainly on narrow farm tracks - via Siggen, Speck and Rötenbach to Vogt. Then to Waldburg and on to Hannover. From here - of course again on small roads - to Amtzell. The tour continues via Neukirch, Kreuzweiher and Oberlangnau to Giessen and there - turn left - to Betznau and Berg. From here it is only a few more kilometres to Nitzenweiler, where you can take a break at the Gasthof Seerose. Then the path leads via Wielandsweiler (turn right) and Degersee.
